It was another busy month of replacing, retraining, and restocking apparatus and tools that make it possible to effectively fight fires. Everything we replace is the most important item as it touches the island.

Trailer pump that is the backbone of our water shuttle.

Breathing air compressor to fill our scba units.

Scba units themselves.

Suction lines showed up after being backordered because of the flooding throughout the states.

Little important things like trailer hitches and new tankers.

We decided we will indeed go for 2 training nights a month as well as our monthly planning meetings....we need to get acquainted to everything right down to where our hand tools live.

We had a proud bunch in the parade showing that we truly are rebuilding a fine fleet.

So much work before this dilemma is in the past but its definitely almost in the rear view mirrors we also had to replace.

Be safe
